

Wooden Magnetic Construction Blocks

Product Code: EY10641

These Wooden Magnetic Construction Blocks have been designed and created for under 3s. Yet children of all ages will love engaging with these magnetic blocks as they manipulate the blocks and create overhanging shapes.

- These are a wonderful addition to your baby room. Create a baby construction area where your little ones can grab the blocks and easily create structures. The magnets have an added challenge for your little ones as destroying the towers may take a little longer.
- Older children will love creating with these magnetic blocks. They will use their imaginative minds to create structures that overhang to build on a different scale than their other construction materials. Children will use different kinds of construction to create their structures.
- This is a wonderful resource for children to learn simple scientific properties. Even though these are made from beautiful wood they have magnets inside. Children will learn about how different materials react differently to others.
- Children enjoy constructing, make sure you set out different resources to go alongside. Children may create roads and paths for cars and people. Have lots of transport vehicles and people figures for children to extend their play and build up stories.
